BROADWAY THEATER. David Belasco's "The Girl of the Golden West."

"The Girl of the Golden West," from the pen of David Belasco. America's foremost playwright, and presented by his own company, will be the offering at the Broadway theater on Friday. September 10. It is a beautiful production and one of exceptional dramatic intensity and while it provides great opportunities for the members of the company, not the lest important feature is the scenery and accessories. The setting of the fourth act is probable the most greeous shown on any The setting of the fourth act is probably the most greeous shown on any stage. The currain rises on this act showing the stage in utter darkness. Gradually lights begin to break, shadows grow and the fostillis of the Sierras are shown in the distance, with the first faint glow of dawn breaking over them. Then the rays of the sun penetrate in most realistic fashion, and the soft light of early dawn casts the witchery of its mellow glow over the boundless prairie, revealing among the grasses of that prairie the Girl and the outlaw just awakening from a the outlaw just awakening from a night of repose, while from no one seems to know just where, there comes the soft strains of a male quartette singing the national anthem.

BROADWAY THEATER. Dickens and the Theater.

It has been held by many that Dick-ens was opposed to having his work dramatized, when the opposite is really the case.

His "David Copperfield," which, when first produced on the stage, created a veritable Dickens craze, will be presented in the Broadway theater this evening.

Alan Dale, the New York American's

Alan Dale, the New York American's framatic critic—conceded to be one of the world's foremost writers on matters theatrical, in his review of Edward C. White's production in New York city of "David Copperfield," said:

"The dramatization of Dickens is a task that is almost impossible to achieve successfully, but one in which all those splendid types—those unforgettable characters of the great novel—were capitally and exultantly set forth.

'I saw Uriah Heep done to the life—'umble, despicable, but breathing; I saw that lone, lorn widow. Mrs. Gummidge, vivid with truth and accuracy; I saw little Em'ly painted in drear colors, but not devitalized; I saw Park Mrs. Member 18 or Dan'l Peggoty, Ham, Mr. Micawher, Traddles, James Steerforth, David Copperfield, Rosa Partle, and last, but not least—Betsy Trotwood. All had atepped from the familiar, and it was delightful to meet them."

BREED THEATER.

Large Growds at Both Performances

The many out of town visitors in the city Tuesday took advantage of the attractions offered by the Breed theater for this week, and thronged the favorite old theater to the doors. In fact, there was hardly standing room at either performance.

As a head-liner the great feature picture, entitled The Prince and the Pauper, has been secured, and the conclusion is a compilment to its conclusion is a compilment to its suracy and excellence. Miss Ceoil coner, appearing in the dual title e, is certainly the mistress of her , and the rare refinement of her art, and the rare refinement of her acting is always present, permeating the whole atmosphere of the picture and rendering it a positive delight to all. Among the great scenes that are noteworthy are the scenes on London bridge, Tom Canty's Mouse, the Palace Gates, the great Coronation Scene, and many others, all of which go to make up one of the most historically accurate and beautiful pictures ever seen, the entire production having been under the personal supervision of the eminent American author, Mark Twain.

The remainder of the programme The remainder of the programme shows some unequalled educational films, besides some of the best comedy seen here this season. Musicr Harry Noonan is singing one of the prettiest and best songs in his repertoire this week, mamed Somebody Loves You, Dear, and makes a sensation by his dramatic climax, later singing the illustrated song hit, in Wateraselon Time.

DANIELSON TOWN HALL.

"The Final Settlement."

At Danielson Town Hall on Friday next, for one night only, the attraction will be a new drama by Lem B. Parker, entitled "The Final Settlement," which is said to be a simple, terse and rational presentment of social conditions among the highest classes of present day American life. The story tells of the rise of an ambitious young working man from the ranks of labor to the position of president of a great iron trust. His guiddenty acquired wealth and position cause him to renounce his wife, who clings to her old-fashioned ideals of home and husband. He marries a young and beautiful actress, believing that her talent and charms will serve to attract the best society. His subsequent ruin, and his final rescue at the hands of the discarded wife form the basis of the story. The play is well put together, from beginning to end is no dull moment, no cessation of earer interest. It will be presented end is no dull moment, no cessation of eager interest. It will be presented here with a full cast of metropolitan

TOLD TO USE CUTICURA

Norwich

After Specialist Failed to Cure Her Intense Itching Eczema — Had been Tortured and Disfigured but

SOON CURED OF DREAD HUMOR

"I contracted eczema and suffered intensely for about ten months. At times I thought I would scratch myself to pieces. My face and arms were covered with large red patches, so that I was ashamed to go out. I was advised to go to a doctor who was a specialist in skin diseases, but I received very little relief. I tried every known remedy, with the same results. I thought I would never get better until a friend of mine told me to try the Cuticura Remedies. So I tried them, and after four or five applications of Cuticura Ointment I was relieved of my unbearable itching. I used two sets of the Cuticura Remedies, and I am completely cured.
